CALL FOR PAPERS: EXTENDED DEADLINE

The 13th Annual CSU Graduate Conference will examine the significations of language, word, and image, as well as literary representations of meaning and experience. We invite papers from all periods and genres of literary, linguistic, and visual culture. In addition, we welcome investigations of the ideological implications of these issues and their representations. Accepted papers will be published in a volume of conference proceedings.

EXTENDED Deadline for Paper Submissions: February 18, 2008

Paper topics may include: Historical criticism cultural studies, critical theory, gender studies, Chicano studies, composition studies, rhetoric and language, visual and performing arts, creative writing, studies in British, American, and World Literature, Anthropology, History, and Philosophy.

Paper Guidelines:

10-12 pages (including Works Cited and any End Notes), double-spaced, 12 point Times New Roman font. Paper margins and citations must be in strict accordance with MLA format. Papers may be submitted via e-mail attachment (MS Word only) or via hard copy, with a cover sheet stating your name, paper title, street address, e-mail address, phone number, and institutional affiliation. On a additional page, please include a brief (250 word) abstract of your paper along with a short (50 word) biographical summary of your interests. Please do not include your name or other identifying information in the head or body of your paper. Graduate students may submit one paper for consideration.
