The Chemistry & Biochemistry Club offers its members the option of becoming Student Affiliate Members of the American Chemical Society (ACS), the American Society for Microbiology (ASM), and/or the American Society for Biochemistry and Molecular Biology (ASBMB) at a reduced rate. World renowned for their journals, conferences, and job opportunities, membership to these organizations includes a yearlong subscription to their respective magazines, as well as invitations to special conferences and events via email.

For an additional payment of dues would you like to become a member? If yes, please fill out a separate ACS or ASM Membership form available in the club office. Dues are subject to increase; check ACS/ASM application for exact amount.
