<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Software Applications and Operating Systems</td>
<td>1194.21</td>
<td>Partially Supports. Keyboard access exists for functions that can be identified with text labels, with some exceptions. A mouse or other pointing device may be required for some of these functions.</td>
<td>Some items within the Printer Properties, Printing Preferences, Help navigation, and status messages are not in the tabbing order. Status message hot keys may not be available while using a screen reader. The Fax Preview dialog may require using a mouse or other pointing device.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Applications shall not disrupt or disable activated features of other products that are identified as accessibility features, where those features are developed and documented according to industry standards. Applications also shall not disrupt or disable activated features of any operating system that are identified as accessibility features where the application programming interface for those accessibility features has been documented by the manufacturer of the operating system and is available to the product developer.</td>
<td>1194.21(a)</td>
<td>Supports. HP LaserJet Enterprise 500 color Printer Series does not interfere with documented accessibility features of the supported operating systems or other products that follow industry standards. (For example, the application maintains user-defined display settings such as high contrast and keyboard settings such as Sticky Keys.)</td>
<td>Current focus for Printing Preferences dialogs may not be made available to a screen reader (e.g., JAWS). This can sometimes be corrected by first closing the screen reader; opening Printing Preferences; then re-opening the screen reader once the page has been loaded.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A well-defined on-screen indication of the current focus shall be provided that moves among interactive interface elements as the input focus changes. The focus shall be programmatically exposed so that Assistive technology can track focus and focus changes.</td>
<td>1194.21(b)</td>
<td>Partially Supports. The current focus is identified visually and audibly, and assistive technology can track focus as it changes, with some exceptions.</td>
<td>Current focus for Printing Preferences dialogs may not be made available to a screen reader (e.g., JAWS). This can sometimes be corrected by first closing the screen reader; opening Printing Preferences; then re-opening the screen reader once the page has been loaded.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sufficient information about a user interface element including the identity, operation and state of the element shall be available to Assistive technology. When an image represents a program element, the information conveyed by the image must also be available in text.</td>
<td>1194.21(c)</td>
<td>Partially Supports. Some information about user interface elements may not be available to assistive technology. Text equivalents for some program element images may not exist.</td>
<td>Current focus for Printing Preferences dialogs may not be made available to a screen reader (e.g., JAWS). This can sometimes be corrected by first closing the screen reader; opening Printing Preferences; then re-opening the screen reader once the page has been loaded. Some information displayed on the LCD may not be available through the HP Toolbox and Embedded Web Server.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>When bitmap images are used to identify controls, status indicators, or other programmatic elements, the meaning assigned to those images shall be consistent throughout an application's performance.</td>
<td>1194.21(d)</td>
<td>Supports. Images used to identify programmatic elements have consistent meaning throughout the application.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Textual information shall be provided through operating system functions for displaying text. The minimum information that shall be made available is text content, text input caret location, and text attributes.</td>
<td>1194.21(e)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Applications shall not override user selected contrast</td>
<td>1194.21(f)</td>
<td>Supports. HP LaserJet Enterprise 500 color Printer Series does not override user selected contrast.</td>

Accessible Controls and Keys

- Operable controls shall not be more than 24 inches behind the reference plane (see Figure 2 of this part).
  - 1194.25(j.4): Supports. Operable controls are not located more than 24 inches behind the reference plane, depending on where the customer installs the product.

- Operable controls shall not be more than 24 inches behind the reference plane.
  - 1194.25(j.3): Supports. Operable controls meet the specifications in this provision depending on where the customer installs the product.

- Where any operable control is more than 10 inches and not more than 24 inches behind the reference plane, the height shall be 46 inches maximum and 15 inches minimum above the floor.
  - 1194.25(j.2): Supports. Operable controls meet the specifications in this provision depending on where the customer installs the product.

- Where any operable control is 10 inches or less behind the reference plane, the height shall be 54 inches maximum and 15 inches minimum above the floor.
  - 1194.25(j.1): Supports. Operable controls meet the specifications in this provision depending on where the customer installs the product.

- The position of any operable control shall be determined with respect to a vertical plane, which is 48 inches in length, centered on the operable control, and at the maximum protrusion of the product within the 48 inch length (see Figure 1 of this part).
  - 1194.25(j): Supports. See §1194.25 (j) (1) through (4) below.

Functional Performance Criteria

- At least one mode of operation and information retrieval that does not require user vision shall be provided, or support for Assistive technology used by people who are blind or visually impaired shall be provided.
  - 1194.31(a): Partially Supports. Some operations and functions for information retrieval require user vision. These operations and functions may not be available to assistive technology used by people who are blind or visually impaired.

- At least one mode of operation and information retrieval that does not require visual acuity greater than 20/70 shall be provided in audio and enlarged print output working together or independently, or support for Assistive technology used by people who are visually impaired shall be provided.
  - 1194.31(b): Partially Supports. Some operations and functions for information retrieval require visual acuity greater than 20/70. These operations and functions may not be available to assistive technology used by people who are visually impaired.

- At least one mode of operation and information retrieval that does not require user hearing shall be provided, or support for Assistive technology used by people who are deaf or hard of hearing shall be provided.
  - 1194.31(c): Supports. HP LaserJet Enterprise 500 color Printer Series does not require user hearing for operation or information retrieval, and/or support for assistive technology is provided.

- Operable controls shall not be more than 24 inches behind the reference plane (see Figure 2 of this part).
  - 1194.25(j.4): Supports. Operable controls are not located more than 24 inches behind the reference plane, depending on where the customer installs the product.

Desktop and Portable Computers

- All mechanically operated controls and keys shall comply with §1194.23 (k) (1) through (4).
  - 1194.26(a): Supports. All mechanically operated controls and keys support §1194.23 (k) (1) through (4).

- If a product utilizes touchscreens or touch-operated controls, an input method shall be provided that complies with §1194.23 (k) (1) through (4).
  - 1194.26(b): Supports. HP LaserJet Enterprise 500 color Printer Series provides redundant controls as an alternate for touchscreens or touch-operated controls. The redundant controls support §1194.23 (k) (1) through (4).

When biometric forms of user identification or control are used

- Not Applicable. HP LaserJet Enterprise 500 color Printer Series does not use a biometric interface for operation.
  - 1194.26(c): Not Applicable. HP LaserJet Enterprise 500 color Printer Series does not use a biometric interface for operation.

Where provided, at least one of each type of expansion slots, ports and connectors shall comply with publicly available industry standards.

- Supports. HP LaserJet Enterprise 500 color Printer Series provides industry-standard expansion slots, ports and/or connectors.
  - 1194.26(d): Supports. HP LaserJet Enterprise 500 color Printer Series provides industry-standard expansion slots, ports and/or connectors.
