

ALUMNI SPOTLIGHT

Showcasing literary journalism in California State University, Los Angeles magazine

Realizing a dream of starting a school for often overlooked homeless children in South L.A.

Revisiting the educational legacy of the historic 1968 East L.A. Walkouts. Forging new paths in stem cell treatment and research. Shaping the future of the nursing profession and health care in the United States. Explore the compelling stories featured in the Winter 2018 issue of the California State University, Los Angeles magazine.

CHARTER COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

Hattie Mitchell, a 2008 graduate of the Urban Learning Program in the Charter College of Education at Cal State LA, founded a school to address the needs of homeless students.