

Students Present at CBEA Conference

CBE students Jasmine Diep, Monica Chow, and Monica Martinez attended the California Business Education Association (CBEA) Conference held November 17th in San Diego. Introduced by Dr. Carol Blaszczynski, the presentation, "No More Nomophobia: Reducing Cell Phone Addiction Among Business Students," was well received by attendees. According to the website, the association is "the leading association of education and business professionals sharing a powerful vision-California's leaders linking education and industry to build the 21st century workforce."
