Survey Shows Emeriti Are Well Pleased With University Services

That Emeriti Faculty of Cal State L.A. are quite well pleased with the pre- and post-retirement services provided by the University is shown by replies to the questionnaire mailed with the December Newsletter.

Forty-six returns, coming from Emeriti as far away as New York (Evelyn Malkin Barclay) express appreciation for past and continuing services and advisement, pinpoint items for possible improvement, and suggest ways in which the Association might play a constructive role.

Discussion of the survey results by members of the Executive Committee at the February 17 meeting brought out the following comments and observations:

Barbara Finkenbinder, of the University Personnel Office, has served an heroic role. At least a dozen respondents to the questionnaire commented upon her help and expertise, and a (Continued on Third Page)

Annual Meeting April 9

The annual business meeting of the Cal State L.A. Emeriti Association, to which all emeriti faculty are urgently invited to come, will be held in Room 318A of the University Union on Thursday, April 9, at 1 p.m. The monthly meeting of the Association's Executive Committee, open to all who wish to attend, will precede the annual meeting at 10:40 a.m. in Music 143.

The agenda for the annual meeting will include reports on activities and accomplishments of the Association during the past year, given by President Robert Forbes and the other officers. There will be an election of officers for the coming year, conducted by Past President Clifford Dobson, chairman of the Nominating Committee.

Principal speaker at the meeting will be Dr. Thomas L. Jacobs, Chemistry Professor Emeritus at UCLA and Chairman-Elect of the UCLA Emeriti Association. He will speak on the retirement program at UCLA, in which he has been very active since his retirement in 1976.

Professor Jacobs, who came to UCLA as a young instructor in chemistry, achieved distinction as a teacher, researcher and consultant to major American industrial firms during his 37 years of active service on the Westwood campus. During the last 25 years of teaching he was continuously involved in academic governance of the University, serving at various times as chairman of most every major policymaking committee of the University Academic Senate. He also represented the Los Angeles division of the University of California on various review boards and steering committees, including the Committee on University Emeriti and Pre-retirement Relations and the Committee on Faculty Welfare.

Professor Jacobs currently is serving as a member of Committee E of the California Conference of AAUP, engaged in study of emeritus status and retirement problems and policies, under the leadership of Sidney Albert.

Keeping Mailing Lists Up to Date Is Tough, But We Keep Trying

Keeping mailing lists up to date is one of the toughest jobs any organization faces. You'd think emeriti faculty would settle in and stay put somewhere, but they don't!

Please be assured we're working on it. Right now, for example, we're looking for Wesley O. Griesel (last address: 2851 Tahoe Drive, Livermore, CA), Iris Timson Gwinn (last address: 4032 Jack Pine Road, Shingle Springs, CA), and Mary E. Murphy (last address: 302 Grace Street, South Pasadena, CA).

Any help will be appreciated.

His long-standing interest in emeriti faculty matters led to his appointment as chairman of Committee E of the California Conference of AAUP, for study of policies and issues of retired faculty.

When we parted she shook my hand, saying 'You have now shook the hand that shook the hand of Bernard Shaw.'

"During a tour of the People's Republic of China in August I managed to acquire some little known information about Shaw's visit to Shanghai and other Chinese cities in 1933 (during an around-the-world-tour). By a stroke of good fortune I met a retired Chinese editor who has promised to supply me with more material on Shaw's visit. Also, I met a Chinese graduate student there, who has since written me, seeking assistance in admission to Cal State L.A.

Professional Activities

AKE SANDLER reports that he presently is conducting a survey of the 152 diplomatic missions to the United Nations, to determine the attitudes of their governments toward problems bearing on peace and war, and their attitudes toward the U.S. and its foreign policies. Results of the survey are expected to be completed in the Spring and will be published under the auspices of the Center for Disarmament and Arms Control at Cal State L.A., headed by Richard Burns as director and Sandler as associate director. The project is receiving the cooperation of the United Nations Association.

HARRY THRASHER enjoyed a pre-Thanksgiving visit from his first boss, Dr. C. A. They visited another former Galva teacher under Weber, Hal Hall, in Ojai.

RICHARD LILLARD thinks he must "retire from retirement or learn to say 'No'." Since September he has been busy writing three articles on Los Angeles history for the Bicentennial Commission, preparing a slide show on how the grand jury functions for the L.A. Grand Jurors Association, serving on the board of directors of the Forest History Society and attending their national meeting in Atlanta, and serving a second year on the County Economy and Efficiency Commission as an appointee of the L.A. County Board of Supervisors.

Personal Notes

BEV AND BERNIE WARNER report from Cambria as follows:

"Retirement is never uneventful. At least it hasn't been so far for us. This year in June Bernie had a triple bypass. The results are excellent. He hasn't felt so well in years. We highly recommend the operation for anyone who is a 'good candidate.'

ARTHUR ATWELL (P.O. Box 459, Avila Beach, CA, 93424) writes "I am working as time permits as a psychologist for the San Luis Obispo Regional Center and for a local church. My forthcoming book, 'Epilepsy: Everything You Want to Know' (Little, Brown & Co.) will be out late summer, 1981. The rest of time is golf and tennis.'

The University's Academic Senate has under study proposed change in personnel policies which will require a job performance evaluation by a departments personnel committee for those academic employees who seek to continue their employment beyond the mandatory retirement age.

The Senate received the document from the Faculty Affairs Committee in December. It requires a written evaluation of job performance with respect to instructional performance and currency in the field, together with a recommendation to the School Dean on whether or not the employee should receive a certificate of eligibility.

ALICE THOMPSON is back in circulation, nearing recovery from her second mishap. She had just recovered from an ankle fracture when she was knocked down by one of those notorious Italian purse snatchers on a street in Genoa in December. She suffered a severe bruise on her temple and a dislocated elbow, forcing her to abandon her trip and return home to recuperate.

Alice attended the Executive Committee meeting in February and promised that barring further mishaps, she will be ready to take over as Association President July 1.
Special Committee Created to Study Policies on Emeriti

Drs. John Niederhauser and Sidney Albert, representing the Emeriti Association’s Executive Committee, met in January with the Executive Committee of the Cal State L.A. Academic Senate to discuss existing policy on a wide range of emeritus and retirement issues and to explore ways in which policy might be implemented. As a result of the discussions, the Academic Senate Executive Committee approved without a dissenting vote the creation of an and to explore ways in which policy makers selected by the University Faculty Affairs Committee, the Emeriti Association, and the Vice President for Academic Affairs, respectively, to explore problems and make recommendations to the Senate’s Executive Committee.

Don Mortensen Selected

At its Feb. 17 meeting, the Executive Committee selected Don Mortensen, member of the Association’s delegation who was not able to be present at the January meeting, to represent the Association on the ad hoc committee. Members of the Association are urged to submit their suggestions of issues and problem which the committee should explore.

During the course of the discussions at the January meeting, Dr. Niederhauser pointed out the need for a review of existing policy, taking into account the emeriti representation on the Academic Senate and the revised University policy on emeriti status. This proposal came after he was informed that the nomination of Richard Lillard as an emeriti member of the General Education Committee had been turned down on the basis that current policy allowed only regular full-time faculty to serve on University committees.

Dr. Albert also called to the attention of the Executive Committee the recent reversals and inconsistencies in the policy on eligibility of emeriti to apply for institutional grants. He urged the establishment of a committee to deal with issues relating to emeriti.

“In our opinion said Dr. Albert, this action (authorizing an ad hoc committee) marks a significant advance for the emeriti cause on our campus, and we commend the leadership of the Academic Senate for their sympathetic attention and response to our proposals.”

MATTERS OF CONCERN

Legal, Financial Tips

EQUALITY FOR STRS MEMBERS

Effective January 1, 1981, the post-retirement restrictions for members of State Teachers’ Retirement System (STRS) whose last employment was in the CSUC system, will be subject to the same as the post-retirement restrictions which apply to members of the Public Employees’ Retirement System (PERS).

Under this new legislation, Assembly Bill 2113 (Cline), those retired under STRS, as provided in the amended section 23918 of the Education Code, may now be employed for up to 90 days per fiscal year (equivalent to one academic quarter for Cal State L.A. faculty) with no earnings limit. STRS members were limited under the former restriction to post-retirement employment for no more than 120 days or earning more than $5,000 during any fiscal year—no more.

CHANGE IN TAX CODE

The Installation Sales Revision Act of 1980 revises the rules for reporting of gain on installment sales. The act eliminates both the 30% limit on payments in year of sale and the rule requiring payments to be spread over at least two years. The act applies to sale of real property. Installment treatment would be automatic unless taxpayer elects otherwise. The above revision does not apply to dealers.

Installment method is a way under which the income is recognized for any taxable year from a disposition of property in proportion to the payments received in that year which the gross profit realized bears to the total contract price.

It is recommended that one should consult an accountant for complete information.

2 Given Emeritus Status

President James Rosser has announced the granting of emeritus status, effective the past June 30, to Anita Fisher, Department of Physical Education faculty member since 1956, and Kenneth Wynsma, on the Department of Art faculty since 1962.

typical note was that “Barbara deserves to be recognized by the Emeriti Association”.

Action already is under way to remedy some of the shortcomings identified by questionnaire respondents. For instance an up-to-date mailing list is being composed. This should assure receipt of parking permits, ID cards, faculty bulletin, and other University materials.

A listing of names of appropriate officers and addresses of pertinent organizations (PERS, STRS, Social Security, Blue Cross, etc.) has been prepared. Copies are available from Barbara Finkenbinder, Cal State L.A. Office of Personnel Services.

A system for providing basic documents to prospective retirees is being developed. Methods of obtaining library privileges at other university and college campuses was explained in the December Newsletter.

Some Emeriti expressed hope that the Association can support some worthwhile projects of the University, thereby earning an expanded role on campus. Several wished that support could be obtained for continuing scholarly activities.

“These ideas go hand-in-hand,” noted Bob Forbes, “and I hope we are making progress on both of them.”

Among the “vexing” problems frequently alluded to were delays or inadequacies in health plan payments, lapse of time in determination of entitlement benefits, difficulties in getting in touch with appropriate officials at agencies, and obtaining accurate and continuing information about post-retirement employment.

“While most of the problems mentioned are capable of rather early improvement or solution, some are going to take longer,” said Bob. “We’ve got to get to work on such requests as ‘a pill to stop aging,’ ‘a cure for arthritis,’ ‘means to grow a new head of hair,’ ‘a way to arrest hearing loss,’ ‘an antidote for senility,’ and ‘a way to stop the passage of time.’”

“I think we’d best just follow Paul Scott to Santa Barbara where, he says, it’s heaven on earth.”

News from Abroad

Correspondence received since our December issue of the newsletter is featured by messages received from emeriti residing abroad.

GERHARD ALBERSHEIM posted season’s greetings from Switzerland (address: Brachmattstr. 22, CH 4144 Arlesheim), as follows:

“My life is centered around my professional work and I am grateful that my relatively satisfactory health enables me to keep at it. The main item this year was still my new book (The Language of Tones), which I delivered in August 1979. There was delay and annoyance because of bad work by the typesetter, but now it is in print and will appear still this year—perhaps as a Christmas present!

“I also wrote a substantial article on my musicological work in English language upon request of the Journal of the Indian Musicology Society, which I finished today so that I can finally get at my Christmas mail. I also have tentatively started work on a new book project because the finishing of the last one last year left a void.

“My teaching activities continue although, due to circumstances, the number of lessons was smaller this year. I also went on a concert tour again with my tenor friend Gobel (mostly in Germany), accompanied a friend and colleague in a performance of Beethoven’s 4th piano concerto on the second piano (as a sort of dress rehearsal for his appearances with orchestra), and taped a concert program (from Schultz to Milhaud) with one of my soprano pupils.

“I derive great joy from the success of my former students. Outstanding among them is Larry Foster, whom I visited in the nearby Jure mountains where he spent a vacation month with his wife and young daughter in the house of a colleague, where we also could enjoy an hour of 4-hand playing of a Steinway concert grand. Then I attended his highly successful concert with the fine Tonhalle Orchestra in Zurich, where he conducted Schumann’s 2nd symphony as beautifully as I have ever heard it. Then I heard a simply wonderful performance of Donna Anna in Mozart’s Don Giovanni by Judy Beckman from Los Angeles, with whom I had last worked 22 years ago at the Music Academy of Santa Barbara.

“Very enjoyable were visits of my dear colleague Hansi Grauden of Los Angeles and my friend and former Cal State L.A. colleague, Keith Snyder and his wife.

“I also did some beautiful traveling: 9 days in Greece as guest of my brother and his wife from Waban, Mass., twice in the Ticino (Southern Switzerland), and a few days in Germany. Here I have other good friends, and mainly my big family (which is Erna’s!), with whom I am going to spend Christmas again.

“The world situation and the suffering everywhere is even worse than last year, so it remains for everyone to do our duty and try to work for the good in the world.

“Love to all of you!”

ART KIRSCH writes from France (26 Nungsesser & Coli, 75016 Paris) as follows:

“Give my best to all my friends, and especially to Sid Albert, who worked so hard to make the Emeriti Assn. a reality.

“I agree with Rudy Sando that these retirement years are busy ones indeed. Too many things to do and too little time to do them. But, so what else is new?

“Our big project has been to attempt fluency in the French language: four and a half months of 8-hour days and we have barely scratched the edges. Have been asked to give a lecture at one of the Ecole Superieures (a business school) near Lyon. Hope my version of English is sufficient—they’d die laughing if I try it ‘en francais’.

“Went to the wedding of one of our students from France near St. Etienne (near Lyon), Boy, am I getting old. When we left about 3-4 AM the eating, drinking and dancing were just getting into high gear, and it lasted until late the next day from about 1-2 PM the day before. Not me. I barely lasted until 3 AM despite all that lovely wine, booze and food.

“All the best to all of you.”

Travelers Abroad

KEITH D. SNYDER, our Past-President-Once-Removed reported in after returning home to Tehachapi from four months of travel, sounding tremendously pleased at how well the Association had carried on during his absence. He wrote:

“Congratulations to Bill (Lloyd) on the quality of the Newsletter. I think it is great. My very best regards to all the other members of the Executive Committee. I shall expect to see all of you at the annual meeting, whenever, if not before.

“Our trip was GREAT! We stayed in good health, visited with many friends and relatives here in the U.S. in July and October. August and September were spent in Europe, where we traveled by train from Germany to Norway, Sweden, Finland, Italy, Switzerland and Germany. In September friends from home joined us and we drove by car down the Rhine Valley (I think he meant “up” the Rhine—Ed.), sampling as we went, visiting Cologne, Mainz, Worms, Augsburg, Heidelberg, Munich, Oberammergau, Innsbruck, some of Switzerland and a bit of France before returning to Frankfurt for our flight home. We really had a ball, and I lost 5 pounds in spite of all the beer and wurst I consumed in Germany!

“I miss not seeing all of you on a regular basis.”

SIDNEY ALBERT, who is continuing his scholarly research into the life of George Bernard Shaw, reports on a trip he made to Japan and China last summer in furtherance of those interests, as follows:

“In July I visited Japan and in Tokyo gave a talk to the Shaw Society of Japan, entitled “Eleanor Robson Belmont: A Memoir”. It was my second talk to that organization (the first was in 1976, and was later published—in Japanese—in their periodical, “G. B. S.”). This time they made me an honorary member of their society.

“Eleanor Robson was an American actress whom Shaw sought (unsuccessfully) to create the role of Barbara in the original (1905) production of “Major Barbara”. Later on she married the wealthy August Belmont and became virtually the patron saint of the Metro-
