Points of Interests...

- During the recent updating of the university’s catalog, numerous courses were either “deactivated” or deleted and in both cases removed from the catalog. For the “deactivated” courses this means that they can’t be offered unless they are “reactivated.” “Deactivated” courses may be “reactivated” upon the recommendation of the department and appropriate dean and approval by the Provost.

- During the Q2S process, departments can reactivate, revise, or combine “deactivated” courses and submit them for curricular approval by way of the Course Modification or New Course Proposal Form. After the course modifications are approved, the course numbers will be reactivated with the new course information, which at the very least would be the new semester unit requirement.

- If a department changes their program(s) during conversion and a “deactivated” course becomes required and would be regularly scheduled, then that course could be converted by use of the Simple Course Conversion Form.

“Stepping onto a brand-new path is difficult, but not more difficult than remaining in a situation.”
