Symposia will feature outstanding faculty scholars who are improving the richness of campus life through their distinguished work. There are two types of Symposia: the Sabbatical Symposium, which honors those faculty who have made robust progress during their sabbaticals; and, the Symposium on Engaged Scholarship, which highlights faculty scholarship related to the surrounding community. These two events shall occur quarterly and will be open to the campus community.

The following faculty are invited and strongly encouraged to apply:

- Faculty who have received a recent sabbatical and have made significant achievements in scholarly activities during their leave; and,
- Faculty who engage in scholarship that involves the faculty member in a partnership with the community, and integrates faculty roles of teaching, research, and service. Scholarship examples include publication on civic learning, community engagement and/or service learning.

Symposia Qualifications and Application Process

Faculty interested in showcasing their work should complete the attached proposal form and return as an email attachment to druiz@calstatela.edu by June 1, 2014. Invited faculty will be eligible to receive a stipend of $500 for the symposium.
