Antiques and The Arts Weekly, Friday, April 7, 2017, pages from 25 to 25

Victorian Rose Antiques, Wenham, Mass.

Antique Rose, Atlanta

pinch back table, a tall secretary desk, a tall cupboard and a great deal of porcelain and crystal

Other Atlanta dealers on hand included The Shop, which offers tea saddles, top desks and some other small wooden boxes, much of which they find on shopping trips to England and Europe, and Arlene Toppes, whose dealer Anna Carter mostly scores goods in Brussels for art and other small.

She travels there frequently in her other business and makes time to also shop for antique inventory.

Todd Gerald of the English Antiques Company in Jacksonville, Fla., trades primarily in historic pieces from England. His sales included many hearth and home items from the Nineteenth Century.

Mr. Chipendales Rest was having too over the weekend with sales of English paintings and Eighteenth Century furniture, The Snookilla, Ga., dealer sold a game table to a young woman who had been looking at it for the past two months, finally buying it midway through the show.

Santa Rosa Beach, Fla., exhibitor David Sheffield was offering mostly outdoor furniture and accessories. His painted bench was an iron support, with wooden slats, complemented with a pair of iron, double-light sconces and several small tables.

The Scott Antiques Market each month takes place the second weekend in Atlanta, Thursday through Sunday. For more information, 713 800 1000 or www.scottantiquemarket.com.

---

Mechanical Music Extravaganza

Sunday, April 9, 2017 - 9:30 to 3:30 (early best buy)
Wayne Police Athletic League Building
1 Pal Drive, Wayne, NJ 07470

Admission: general $6, early buyer $15

- Horn photographs
- Cylinder records
- 78rpm records
- Memorabilia
- Music Boxes
- Accessories
- Victrola

- Path

Phone: 973/655-9730

To Place An Ad Call 203-426-8036

---

Cal State LA’s History Society To Host Mesoamerican Symposium April 21-22

Los Angeles, Calif. - Cal State LA's History Society in partnership with the Los Angeles County Museum of Art, presents the 2017 Mesoamerican Symposium, "The Foundation of Heaven: The Great Temple of the Aztec," April 21-22. The symposium will feature lecture scholars in the field, as well as an inaugural exhibit of ancient books of Mesoamerican and Colonial Mexic.

The symposium is dedicated to the life and work of Eduardo Matos Moctezuma, a prominent Mexican anthrocologist. Moctezuma is recognized for his work directing the massive, multidisciplinary Templo Mayor Project (1978-2001). The project was to excavate the Great Temple, People of the island capital of Tenochtitlan, next to the Metropolitan Cathedral and the Zocalo, Mexico City's famous main plaza. He also conducted field work in each revered place. As well, his collection of film, photographs, and textiles of Moctezuma published more than 500 titles, exhibition catalogs and monographs.

The program will take place Friday, April 21-22, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., at Los Angeles County Museum of Art, Bing Theater, and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., at Cal State LA, Golden Eagle Ballroom.

The symposium will culminate April 22 at 5 p.m. in the University Library with an exhibit of ancient books, "Precolumbian Mexico: The Books of Mesoamerica and Colonial Mexico." The exhibit will showcase the Bowles, Glass and Nicholson collections of Cal State LA that are an integral part of the goal of the symposium. The collections of books from the Seventeenth through Twenty-First Centuries include most of the major libraries of Mesoamerican Codices and historic volumes of Colonial Mexico. This exhibit will include the unique collection of the Bowles family, who brought the library of his book repository in the world in the fields of pre-Columbian and colonial history of the Americas to the continent.

The exhibit is curated by Cal State LA art history Professor Marcel Aguilera-Morales, along with Andrea Cannelles and Angelica Cano.

Symposium speakers include Elizabeth Benson of Tulane University, David Carrión of the Harvard University, and the University of California, Riverside; and more.

General admission to the symposium is $25, $15 for college students with ID, and $10 for Cal State LA students with ID. To register, email info@calstatela.edu.

For symposium information, www.calstatela.edu/artscenter/events/ or 310-828-7135. Cal State LA is at 5151 State University Drive. LACMA is at 5000 Wilshire Boulevard.