Consortium Eligibility Requirements

A student may not receive Federal financial aid funds for enrollment at two schools during the same enrollment period. Therefore, the student must request an approval for Cross Enrollment from the CSULA Registrar's Office. The signed copy of the Cross Enrollment form must be submitted to the Center for Student Financial Aid before a Consortium Agreement form can be issued. Cal State L.A. is the institution the student plans to obtain a degree. This agreement will allow the CSULA to accept the units attempted at a visiting school. The attempted units at the visiting school will be considered for disbursement at mid-term after confirmation from the visiting campus of the enrollment status at the time of disbursement. The combination of units attempted at CSULA and visiting school is only considered when it affects the disbursement of financial aid. The student is required to provide the Center for Student Financial Aid at CSULA with verification of enrollment and a copy of the completed units(s) from the visiting school.

The federal financial aid law states that "The enrollment status of a student attending more than one school under a consortium agreement is based on all the courses taken that apply to the degree or certificate at the home institution." In order to determine your eligibility for the consortium, you must have a California State University Los Angeles academic counselor certify that the course at the visiting school will be used toward completion of your degree objective at CSULA.

Certification

Under certain circumstances, a student may be eligible to receive financial aid for participation in two schools during the same academic period. My signature below certifies that I understand the terms and conditions of concurrent enrollment and that I agree to provide CSULA with the required signatures as well as verification of enrollment and a copy of completed grades from the visiting school referenced above.
