September 21, 2006

Dear Cal State L.A. Student,

Are you ready to discover your true leadership potential? Do you want to take a class that is FUN, INTERACTIVE, and EXCITING next quarter? The Center for Student Development and Programs is once again presenting the Leader Project Class. This 1-credit class is an interactive, one-of-a-kind experience designed to provide emerging student leaders at Cal State L.A. with the opportunity to develop their leadership skills and learn about opportunities to get involved here on campus. In addition, you will have the opportunity to serve the community, build relationships, and discover your own leadership style.

This exciting program will take place in the Winter Quarter 2007, on Thursdays beginning January 4, from 1:30pm - 3:30pm. As a participant of the program, you will have the opportunity to be involved with thought-provoking discussions, cooperative activities, and out of classroom projects. It is important that you attend and participate in all class sessions, and have fun as well.

Please complete the attached application and return it to the Center for Student Development and Programs, King Hall, Room D148 no later than Friday, November 3rd at 6pm. You may also fax in the application at: 323.343.5101. Applicants will receive a letter in the mail before the end of the fall quarter noting their status within the Leader Project Class.
