

1 Definition of a Graduate Study Load for Purposes of Assigning Veteran Benefits

2 (Senate: 8/12/70 [EA]; President: 8/19/70)

3 For purposes of assigning veteran benefits, a graduate student will be considered full time if he or she is enrolled in 4 12-units minimum of course work. For purposes of this definition, 500-level courses will be given a weight of 1.5 times
5 their unit value in determining the student's load. Thus, either three 4-unit 400-level courses or two 4-unit 500-level
6 courses would constitute a full load. Combination of credit for 400-level courses and weighted credit for 500-level 7 courses would be computed to determine student load according to the following formula: 12 weighted units and 8 above = full time; 8-11 weighted units = three-fourths time; 4-7 weighted units = half time.