

Request to Utilize Scholarship Funds for New Graduate Students Fall 2026-Spring 2027

DEADLINE FOR SUBMITTING THIS EXCEPTION REQUEST FORM: April 17, 2026

Background

Our current approach to campus scholarship awarding utilizing the Cal State LA Scholarship System (Blackbaud Award Management) does not allow newly admitted students to be considered. Only students who will be continuing in the same degree program level (baccalaureate, credential, Master's or Doctorate) are able to apply. This approach allows us to focus our limited funds on acknowledging the accomplishments of our current students and promote retention and graduation.

The Deans have supported this overall strategy while requesting we find a way to expand this to support the recruitment of talented graduate students. As a result, we have created a 'standard exception' process to request to utilize the department graduate admission process to identify and award new graduate scholarship recipients.

Where can this be utilized?

The department can request to use part or all the scholarship award balance if the award criteria allows the fund to be utilized for the targeted graduate population. This process may only be requested to be utilized for new Master's, doctorate, or Post-baccalaureate credential students.

How will this work?

To ensure we meet the CSU requirements for scholarship administration, the department must agree:

1. The admission application will also be considered the scholarship application. There cannot be a separate application process.
2. The scholarship committee will utilize the information they are already collecting via the University or departmental application process to identify and award eligible candidates.
3. The committee must consider all admitted applicants who meet the minimum criteria for the award. If there are more eligible applicants than funds available, the committee must utilize a rubric to determine the recipients based on the Scholarship Criteria and utilizing available information from the admission process. For programs with late application deadlines, they may set a cutoff date earlier than their admission application deadline and only review students who had complete admission files as of that date.
4. The Scholarship Awarding Form must be submitted to the Scholarships Unit by the published deadline. New students and continuing students can be listed on the same Scholarship Awarding Form for one scholarship account. The total amount of all awards submitted cannot exceed the funds available to award.
5. The department must maintain the evaluation materials including the application, the rubric demonstrating how the awardees were determined since the Cal State LA Scholarship System is not being utilized. This information is subject to audit.

BE AWARE: Approval of this request only allows the department to utilize the admission process rather than the Cal State LA Scholarship System for scholarship recipient selection. All other guidelines apply including committee members, fund availability and minimum award amount.

What if I also want continuing students to be considered? That is acceptable as long as you determine how much you want to spend on the new group versus the continuing group. You will then award the new graduate student amount utilizing the admission process and the continuing student amount via the Cal State LA Scholarship System.
