

Reflections

Nurses on the frontlines during the pandemic

Public Reading

Powerful Stories

Join us for a powerful and moving afternoon as frontline nurses share their stories from the heart of the pandemic. After participating in a series of intensive writing workshops designed to explore their vital roles and process their experiences, these dedicated healthcare professionals will read their original works to the community.

This culminating event offers a unique opportunity to bear witness to their resilience, courage, and voices. After the reading, the nurses will engage in guided dialogue with the audience members. Come listen, learn, and honor the ones who served our community during an unprecedented time.

Speakers

- Helena Harvilicz, MPH, BSN, RN, PHN, OCN
- Paloma Hernandez, BSN, RN, CLE
- Cara Lunsford, BSN, RN
- Kimberly Sanchez, PhD, RN, CNS, CCRN, ACCNS-AG
- Rene Rothrock-Singleton, BSN, RN, PHN
- Rosa Velarde, BSN, RN

Facilitated by Leilani Squire
Consulting by Dr. Lorie H. Judson

Program Details

Sunday, May 3rd, 2026
2 pm - 3:30 pm

Cal State LA Music Hall
5151 State University Drive,
Los Angeles, CA 90032

Tickets are free, but space is limited so make sure to reserve your tickets today!

<https://bit.ly/reflections2026>

This program is hosted by:

 Chin Family
Institute for Nursing

For more information, please contact
Lorie H. Judson at ljudson@calstatela.edu