GAME DESIGN

Learn the fundamentals of game design in Downtown Los Angeles

Offered through the College of Professional and Global Education, the noncredit certificate program in interactive storytelling and game design combines programming skills for game and application design with visual art, storytelling and entrepreneurship skills. Students receive an understanding of video game development, and position their narrative, social, and artistic practice in an entrepreneurial environment.

Who Should Enroll

This program is ideal for:

- Screenwriters, writers, filmmakers, and other media professionals who would like to explore digital and interactive storytelling.

- Creative start-ups, marketing and communication professionals seeking to reach new audiences through interactive games.

- Nonprofit professionals and entrepreneurs interested in using storytelling and gaming to expand their audience and reach supporters

- High school students and game aficionados that want to turn their gaming passion into a profession.

Program Cost
Cost Per Module	$749
Total Program Cost	$3,745

Learn More
calstatela.edu/dtla/gamedesign

CAL STATE LA

DOWNTOWN

801 SOUTH GRAND AVENUE | 6TH FLOOR | LOS ANGELES CA 90017 | 888.541.DTLA | CALSTATELA.EDU/DTLA