STEMEC hosts Natural Science Transfer Orientation in the Summer

September 8th, 2017

Our Consortium personnel joined together to have an executive committee meeting with staff and faculty. Topics of discussion were Institutional Review data as well as evaluation for our project. We are proud to have the Consortium staff and faculty help advise students about their STEM degree and goals in a STEM field. Each campus brings something new to our students, and we all work together to help them achieve their goals in science.

Upcoming Student Events in October!

Fall has already begun and student events are underway for the STEM Education Consortium. If you have not done so already, visit our home page to get a glimpse of all our upcoming and past events. Visit our RSVP page to sign up for the events and get informed on our student resources and the Natural Science major. Go on and click on the Main Page tab on the left!
